Client Satisfaction Up Again for ForeignExchange

Survey shows clients very satisfied: 99% would recommend to others

Waltham, MA, February 6, 2007 – For the sixth year in a row, clients of ForeignExchange Translations say they are very satisfied with the quality and service they have received, and an impressive 99% say they would not hesitate to recommend ForeignExchange to other companies looking for a translation and localization vendor.

ForeignExchange is the leading provider of specialized language services to companies within the medical device, pharmaceutical and biotech sectors, as well as CROs. Since the year 2000, ForeignExchange has conducted a comprehensive annual survey of its clients, to assist in determining the focus of its ongoing service improvement efforts.

The 2006 survey results are now in, with increased satisfaction ratings in almost every category. The 99% of clients who would recommend ForeignExchange to others represents a three-percent increase over last year's survey. The overall satisfaction rating of 5.43 out of 7 is also an increase over last year's rating.

When comparing ForeignExchange to other translation and localization providers with whom they have worked, clients once again stated their belief that ForeignExchange is doing a better job in terms of quality, price, customer service and technical knowledge. In fact, ForeignExchange widened the gap with higher comparative ratings in all four categories in 2006.

The 2006 survey was sent to 262 clients who signed off on translation projects within the calendar year. Ninety-three surveys were completed, for a response rate of 35.5%. To obtain a copy of the survey results, please visit http://www.fxtrans.com/resources/css_request.htm.
