ForeignExchange Rolls Out FXTracker Upgrades

New version boasts key client-driven improvements

Waltham, MA, April 23, 2007 – ForeignExchange Translations, Inc., the global leader in providing linguistic services to medical device, pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies, has unveiled a series of key upgrades to FXTracker, its proprietary online client interface.

“We continuously gather feedback from our clients regarding FXTracker – what they like about it and areas where they see room for improvement – and we have used this vital client feedback as the basis for the latest round of upgrades,” says Barbara Peralta, ForeignExchange’s Director of Solutions Development.

FXTracker is a suite of tools comprised of the FXOnline Client Portal; FXWorkflow, which facilitates task automation; and FXAssure, an integrated family of quality assurance tools.

The latest round of upgrades to the FXOnline Client Portal includes a localized quote request page now available in German. FXOnline is also equipped with several new customized interfaces including:

- Custom fields for quote requests
- Auto-generation of quick quotes for standard project requests
- Auto-generation of downloadable SOW documentation
- Time-and-date stamp on all incoming quote requests
- Online signatures for approval of quick quotes as part of CFR Part 11 compliance

“We are particularly excited about the new feature that provides clients with an automatic quote online for defined project work,” says Peralta. “We expect it will help reduce the amount of time it takes to get a project launched and into production.”

The FXWorkflow tool has also seen a number of internal enhancements, including:

- Analysis automation for batch processing of languages and files through Trados analysis
- Auto-generation of analysis estimates to streamline quote generation
- Workflow enhancements to allow work distribution to multiple translators at once
- Enhancements to the vendor database to allow for streamlined management and searching

Peralta says there are more improvements in the works for the FXTracker suite of tools in the coming weeks and months. These planned upgrades include offering the quote request feature in additional languages, and implementing a fully localized client portal.
